Mount Sinai South Nassau

Emergency Department Long Beach Campus

Hospital-Grade Emergency Care from a Name you can Trust

Mount Sinai South Nassau is committed to serving the health care needs of the Long Beach community. Our 24/7 free-standing emergency department (ED) has the same features as a traditional ED, with the exception being that it is not located on the Mount Sinai South Nassau hospital campus. The Long Beach emergency department is open to the public 24 hours a day, 365 days a year for the treatment of urgent and emergent medical conditions and is staffed with the same certified emergency nurses and physicians board-certified in emergency medicine as Mount Sinai South Nassau's hospital-based emergency room.

Any patients who require continued hospital care, including admission to the main hospital, will be transferred to our main campus via a Mount Sinai South Nassau ambulance.

No appointment necessary.

Services are available daily, on a walk-in and emergency basis. This free-standing emergency department is a 9-1-1 receiving facility and will treat all urgent and emergency medical conditions. Under existing Department of Health protocol, certain heart attack, stroke and other life-threatening cases may be diverted to the appropriate hospital, including Mount Sinai South Nassau, which has an American College of Surgeons (ACS) certified trauma center.

Am I required to pay for services prior to being treated?

Consistent with Mount Sinai South Nassau's mission and the requirements of the Emergency Medical Treatment and Active Labor Act (EMTALA), Mount Sinai South Nassau's Free-Standing Emergency Department will treat all emergency room patients regardless of their ability to pay, including a medical screening examination and appropriate stabilizing treatment as required by EMTALA. Note that visits to this emergency department are billed at a higher rate than urgent care or physician office visits. Mount Sinai South Nassau has various charity and self-pay options to assist those in financial need.

What insurance plans does the Emergency Department accept?

Mount Sinai South Nassau's Free-Standing Long Beach Emergency Department is an extension of our main hospital and accepts many major insurance carriers. Visit our website for details, mountsinai.org/southnassau
